

Sun semisextile Mercury

☉ ∟ ☿ Sun semisextile Mercury You may find that you are frequently in the position to adjust your path because you have more ideas than you can realistically implement; or because your logical reasoning skills are often at odds with what you are capable of doing. You frequently come to decisions that you end up abandoning because you can't, for whatever reason, act them out.

Life for you is, more than most, a search for self-understanding. Misrepresenting yourself occurs frequently because you are often unsure how to define yourself. You are often unsure of your opinions, and the manner in which you deal with this can vary from reluctance to express opinions to overcompensating by being particularly opinionated so as to avoid letting others know of your uncertainty.

With experience, you (ideally) learn to avoid wasteful over-thinking and the guilt that comes with it. Most any semisextile in the natal chart enhances a person's adaptability, as they are accustomed to adjusting to changing circumstances.

Alternate Interpretation:

Sun semi-sextile Mercury: You appreciate the ability of the human mind to develop clear and precise understanding of nature. You are a big supporter of improving educational standards and you may also promote improved methods and standards in the education of young children. — Interpretation from Kepler.
